DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

   I. Claims 1-4, 8, 10, 12, 17 and 18-20, drawn to a stent with therapeutic agent, classified in class 623, subclass 1.42.

   II. Claims 13, 14, 16, 22 and 23, drawn to a matrix, classified in class 623, subclass 23.61.

   III. Claim 21, drawn to method for treating restenosis of a blood vessel, classified in class 128, subclass 898.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case Invention I is a stent while Invention II disclose a matrix. A stent is a conduit use to support a vessel while a matrix can be use to fill bone defects. Therefore Inventions I and II does not have to be use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects.

3. Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. For example, the matrix can be coated with therapeutic agents before it is implanted within the body.

4. Inventions II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. For example, the matrix can form into a predetermined shape before it is implanted.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Upon election of Group I, this application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

> A) Specie I, for example claims 1-4, 10, 12 and 18-20: a stent with a coating including a first region having a component for reducing or prevent the formation of thrombi and a second region, position beneath the first region, having a component for reducing or preventing infiltration of macrophages in the thrombi.
> B) Specie II, for example claims 8 and 17: a stent with pores and the stent is made from anti-thrombogenic material.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
